Thank you for choosing Building Trades Education Services as your CEU provider!

We are committed to both your personal AND business success and look forward to serving your needs for Continuing Education, now and into the future. We are in the process of adding new courses and in the coming weeks and months, are very excited as to what this means for both you and us.

Our courses will be both fun and educational, in addition to fulfilling the requirements of State and/or County Law. We believe that education is an ongoing and necessary part of any business, but that there is no reason for the process to be stuffy and “sleep inducing”! Nor is it necessary for so many bells and whistles and gimmicks as to be confusing and misleading. To hear a narrator drone on incessantly is not in anyone’s best interest, so we do not and will not offer “audio” courses. Simply “listening” is not learning. Online education, in order to be both beneficial and fun, is an interactive process involving reading for understanding and observing visual images as examples of written material. Much as happens in a live class, we encourage you to contact and have dialogue with our instructors by e-mail (btes.education@comcast.net), with any questions which may arise during the process of taking your course.

Once again we thank you for your purchase(s) and look forward to serving you in the future.

NOW FOR THE NECESSARY LEGALESE!

You are about to make a purchase for an online course to complete the requirement for Continuing Education course(s) as mandated by County Ordinance and/or State Law.

Once you have accepted, purchased and commenced the course there are no refunds possible and you must complete the course in order to obtain your certificate thereby allowing you to renew your license.

Also once you start and complete the timed sections of any course, you may not “back up”. Forward movement is all that is allowed. You will also be limited to 7 calendar days to complete the course and you may not re-take any portion of the course without re-purchasing it.

It is your due diligence to make sure before accepting and beginning the course, that it meets the requirements for your license and venue (State and/or County). If other licensing board requirements are necessary, it is up to you to determine this ahead of time BEFORE accepting, purchasing and beginning the course. Once again, once you have accepted, purchased and begun the course, no refunds are possible under any condition.
